(a) Basis of Race Prejudice

According to Ashley Montagu (1956), race is a mendelian population that differs from such other population in gene frequencies.

Reasons for racial prejudice

- 1) Colonialism gave a boost to racial studies, as Europeans considered themselves socially superior.
- 2) Nazi Germany propounded social ~~dis~~ superiority.

- 3) It resulted in discrimination among humans on the basis of skin color.
- 4) Whiteman's burden theory further justified racism.

However 'UNESCO Statement of Races (1951)' made following comments:

- Pure races do not exist
 - Races do not differ in capability
 - There is no harmful effect of interracial mating.
- Franz Boas also argued that race is a biological concept while racism is a cultural concept
 - Ashley Montagu in his book 'Man's Most Dangerous Myth (1944)' shattered racial bias.

Human Genome Project (2001) argued that 99.99% humans are genetically similar.

Ashley suggested to replace the word race with ethnicity
