

(Don't Write anything in this Area)

1.e) Ecological Anthropology

Ecological Anthropology as a specialised branch of Anthropology was introduced by Roy Rappoport & _____

It refers to the multilevel study of how human body & human culture help him adapt to the newer environmental challenges.

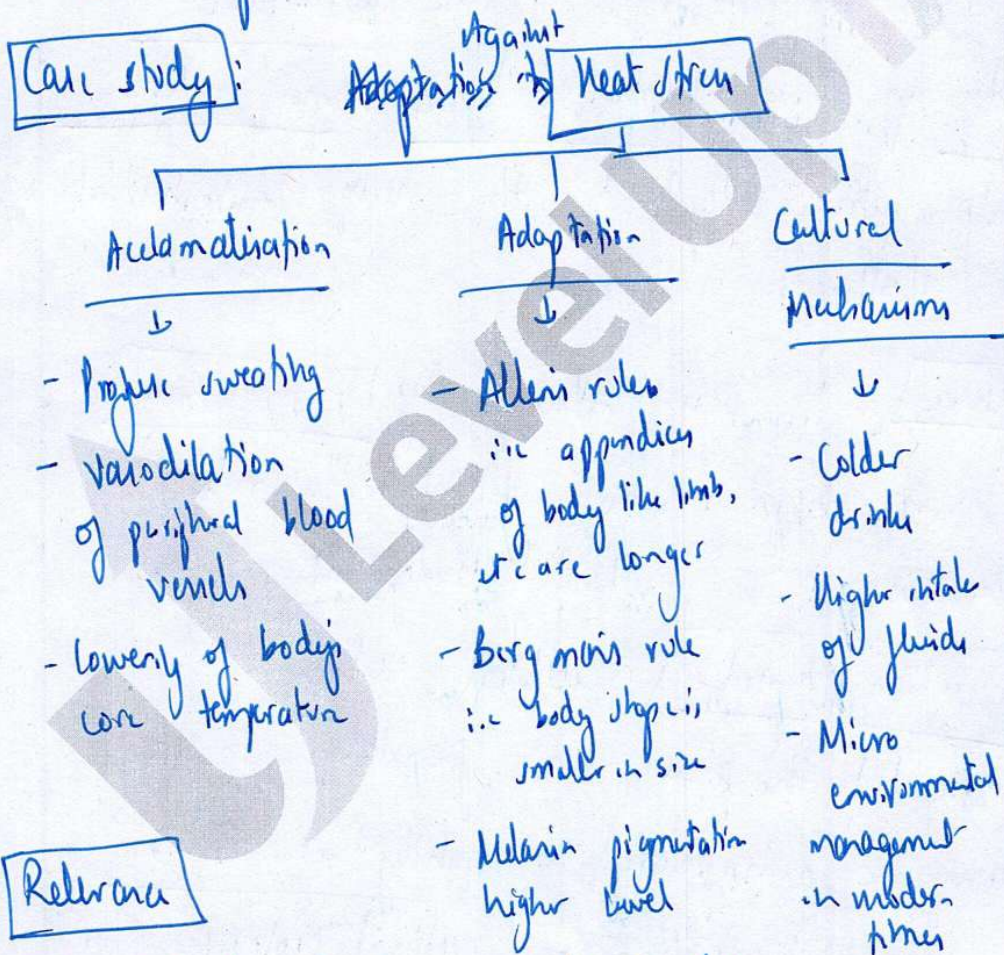

Influence: It was influenced by franz Boas in its inception who highlighted the role of environment in cultural development. Later,

Julian Steward: cultural ecology model provided the ~~press~~ basic foundation. In fact, ecological anthropology is rightly referred to as biologisation of cultural ecology

What all it entails?

Ecological anthropology specialises in studying adaptation & adaptability and acclimatisation

-tion processes undertaken by various segments of human in adapting to diverse climates of world like no other species

Relevance

1) Adaptation & Mitigation to Climate Change

2) Expertise can be used in sustainability practices or sustainable developmental goals.

It gives better picture of human evolution.