

1.e) Enculturation

Enculturation refers to process of learning culture from various agencies
As per Kroeber and Kluckhohn - culture is learnt and transmitted $\Rightarrow$ leading to enculturation

Agencies of Enculturation

- ↳ Primary agency is family - GP Murdock
- ↳ Primary socialisation is the universal function of mother - Kathleen Gough
- ↳ Kinship -- ~~companionship~~ and family of orientation and other kin
- ↳ Neighborhood and Society
- ↳ Youth Dormitory, e.g. Dharmkura in central India

- ↳ Social institution responsible for acculturation e.g. Kibbutz of Israel
 ↳ agencies like School, College, Books, contribute in modern society

Significance of Enculturation

① Functionalist perspective —

Enculturation leads to social control — internalised. It leads to ~~some~~ social etiquettes needed to survive life and society.

② Structural Functionalist —

As per Radcliffe Brown, enculturation leads to persistence of social institutions which lead to continuity of Social Structure.

It is a process hence which makes culture unique to human beings.
