

(4) Enculturation and Transculturation

Enculturation and Transculturation are the phenomenon of social learning amidst the culture.

Enculturation is the learning of culture within the society from birth. A child learn from its parents, surroundings, experiences etc. ex Margaret Mead work on Samoan girls shows enculturation has impact on personality.

Characteristics and Relevance

- Behaviour get patterned by culture.
- Thinking (cognitive aspect) reflect culture ex Among Hopi Indian no time-space differentiation.

Transculturation is the infusion of the culture outside its boundaries or ingestion of other culture. An individual learning from other culture elements can be called transculturation.
