

(Don't Write anything in this Area)

(d) Enculturation and Transculturation.

(10 Marks)

"Enculturation" is the process of learning of one's own culture from his/her social setting.

In the process of enculturation;

- Degree of likeness matter's
- Relevance of cultural artifacts & menifacts to the individual are necessary.

"Enculturation" processes are generally smoother in nature since childhood familiarity with closed one ensure's greater cultural transmission.

Transculturation:- is the process of introduction of new culture into

A society which may or may not be accepted.

e. g British (Christian) culture was resisted by the Santhal & Munda tribes of Chotanagpur; thereby resulting in clashes between the two.

"Enculturation" is a natural process with minimum efforts where as "Transculturation" is an artificial process which might be resisted by the target group.

In today's contemporary world; cultural holism & relativism needs to be adhered for greater cultural synthesis.