

Family as defined by Murdock is a social group wherein the man and women are in socially accepted conjugal relationship with fulfillment of economic, reproductive and sexual functions.

① Based on number

② Based on children

Complete - ΔT^0

incomplete - $\Delta \rightarrow 0$

(3) Family of orientation of procreation

④ Based on residence

pattern

Patricial 70x

matricolati 97

- Neonatal 11%

Amblyopia 4%.

Arvencul cel 2r.

Amato to call

Metric petrol car 589

Newer types of family patterns

- ① Matrilocal family → only mother with child
- ② Patrilocal family → only father with child
- ③ Adoptive family
- ④ Co-living households → no conjugal/affinal/emotional link between householders economy preformation

While most families have nuclear families, disintegration & reintegration into joint families has become norm.

Causes of residence pattern

① Patri-local pattern

Mahowski → instrumentality for family integration

R.C. Brown → transmission of rights via lineality to male line

Murdock → most important role in economy (e.g.) hunting done by men

① Matrilocal pattern

Sociological cause : integration into society

Malinowski's Trobriand islanders father cannot transmit property to son

↳ hence other means evolved

↳ political : Martial races → move out to fight → women run household

(e.g.) Nayars

↳ Demographic forces : sudden death of population while resources remain leading to Auxiliary localities (e.g.) Kwakiwilt

③ Robert Fox supposes that patrilocality is most common type seen because it is most convenient type to satisfy conditions

- Conditions
- ① Man impregnates woman
 - ② woman bears child
 - ③ Man has control over resource disposal
 - ④ Incest is in society for conditions 1 & 2 to satisfy

① Man has to bring women from outside (exogamy)

② The consanguineous kin-men direct resources

This system leads to patrilocality and patriarchy.

If matrilocal institutions exist, then for condition 3 to satisfy, there will be conflict over affinity linked men of ~~cons~~ consanguineously linked men

Therefore patrilocality (Gond, Santal) is higher than matrilocality (Khasi, Jaintia) while allowing some variations such as Tharu, Nagas etc.