

and vulnerable to exploitation.

(e.) Is Joint family dying?

Kapadia and IP Desai have defined Joint family as multiple nuclear family, linked by conjugal or affinal ties, living together.

Irawati Karve says it is characterised by common residence, common kitchen, common place of worship, etc.

Dying Joint family

❖ Alien Ross, Ram Ahuja, FG Bailey support this viewpoint.

~~other factors~~

- ↳ Modern education, Industrialization, globalization has impacted Joint family
- ↳ Increase of importance in individualism ~~make~~ brings it at-odds with Joint family
- ↳ with globalization bringing new profession, it is difficult for all members to do same work.
- ↳ Hence joint family as unit of economic output is failing.

However, other studies show that globalization and modernization can help thrive a Joint family as it can work as unit of economic productivity, eg → Family run restaurants.

→ Micro-level businesses.

Overall, while Globalization has reduced prevalence of Joint family in India, it is not absolutely anti-thetical to joint family.
