(a) Kinship and gender role.

(10 Marks)

As per Ambrose: "Kinship" is the relationship developed on the basis of blood (real or supposed) and marriage.

How Kinship & gender role are related:-

- ① Tracing of a descent in unilineal form results in equal distribution of rights & obligations to both genders but further transmission is restricted by the descent rules.
- ② The sex of the speaker determines the kinship terminologies which can be used from the other person.

c) ~~the~~ Kinship roles in most of the societies ensure greater solidarity with alliance partners along with behaviour of avoidance.

d) Kinship terminologies in some societies ensure 'terms' reflect the gender differences prevalent in the society e.g Father & Mother.

Relevance :- Most of the Kinship studies are gender neutral wherein equal importance is given to both side of kin relations and each group has specific role in social solidarity.

Father's side = Formal relationship
Mother's side = Tokin relationship
