(c) Theories of Origin of Families.

(10 Marks)

There are many definitions for family, however, there are no definitions that apply universally.

Theories of Origin :

① Evolutionary theory: Classical evolutionists believe that marriage evolved from primitive promiscuity to group marriage to polygamy to monogamy. They believed that in the ~~same~~ same way family evolved with marriage.

② Child rearing theory: Due to increase in cranial capacity of man but the limited size of uterus, children born are mentally immature. Hence, it required division of labour - to look after children and to source food thus giving rise
