

(Don't Write
anything in this Area)

(c) Division of Labour.

(10 Marks)

Division of Labour can be defined as the mechanism by which the burden of economic production is shared between members belonging to ~~various~~ different sex, different age groups, etc.

good intro

In various simple societies, the means of production are divided as per either sex or age.

include this also

In Hunting-Gathering Societies (Eg. !Kung)

Males
{involved in hunting big game}

females
{collection of fruits, roots, seeds & small animals}

*Durkheim idea of Division of labour
↓
Organic solidarity*

In Fishing Societies (Eg. Gonds in MP)

Males
fishing in deep sea via kayaks, nets, etc.

females
Collect eggs, shells, crabs and small fishes.

vs mechanical solidarity② M. Mead's Sex and Temperament studies

* Though you have mentioned about age based Division of labour, you did not give importance to it.

(Don't Write

anything in this Area)

Similarly in Horticultural Societies More labour is done by women than men, whereas in Agricultural Societies Men contribute more labour than women.

✓ you can also write about labour specialisation
↓
Division of Labour

In Case of Marriage Payments →

In Bride service, it the male who has to serve the family and kinsmen of bride.

According to Dr. Robin Fox too →

In a kinship system, women has to take care of children with the help of men ~~also~~ and men control the economic production.

Hence, division of labour is an essential part of any society. It ensures unity and continuity of the society.

also mention about anthropological research on division of labour and its future.

Marks: 5/12
Intro: 1
Body: 3/12
Conclusion: 1
Total:

Comment:

✓ overall good answer
✓ Try to include case studies