

(Don't Write anything in this Area)

(b) Redistribution in contemporary society.

(10 Marks)

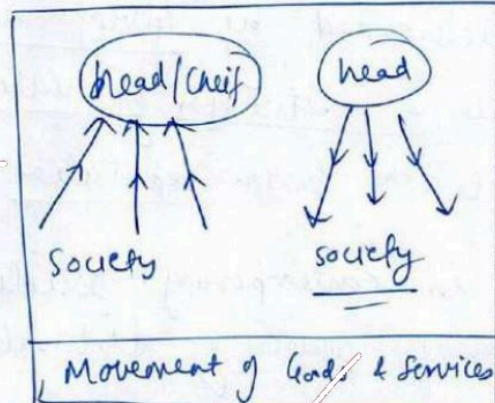

Dr. Karl Polanyi in his book "The Great Transformation" has defined three types of distribution and exchange mechanisms in simple societies

REDISTRIBUTION →

Redistribution is the mechanism by which the goods and service are collected by an individual or an agency in a particular place for subsequent distribution.

Redistribution is primarily found in societies with a strict political hierarchy.

Redistribution in Contemporary Societies →

① In Modern Societies; Government collect taxes from individuals and ^{then} provide welfare schemes through subsequent distribution ✓

② In Poraja tribe; Collective hunting takes place during month of 'Chait' with the help of commoners. The chief later distribute the Game between the commoners.

③ Potlatch as described by Dr. Franz Boas →

In various North American tribal groups (Kwakiutl, Tlingit Red Indians, etc), prestige and status is determined by giving away of wealth as well as destruction of valuable items.

It gets the person reputation as well as high esteem.

Hence, in contemporary societies for redistribution is a major source of distribution & exchange.

write about Redistribution
→ voluntary → non-voluntary give examples ✓ gifts and handicrafts

✓ aid

→ improve

Marks: 4

Comment:

Intro: 1/2

Body: 2

Conclusion: 1/2

Total:

✓ Focus more on the demand of the question