

(Don't Write
anything in this Area)(c) Division of Labour.

(10 Marks)

"Division of Labour" is one of the major principles or factor in institution of marriage.

⇒ Division of Labour ensures greater economic specialisation and greater interdependence between the spouses; thereby increasing social solidarity via the institution of marriage.

e-g Agriculture

→ Men :- clearing ; sowing & Harvesting of field.

→ Women :- Storage activities ; watering activities.

Fishing

→ Men: carry expeditions to catch fish in waters.

→ women: Drying, sorting & storing of fishes.

In certain societies; certain works are only carried by men & women (proper division)

e.g In Bantu people; cattle market is only regulated by ~~women~~ Men.

In Tiv of Nigeria; women are the sellers & men are buyers.

Such "division" in society^{although} ensures greater interdependence; but labour of women in today's society is generally not valued & given no remuneration.

e.g NO value for Care Economy & 80% time in care work!

Relevance :- Investment in care Infrastructure needs to be carried for better gender equality.