

LevelUp IAS

② In heat stress (iv) Activation of the hypothalamus
(iii) simulation of sweat glands
(ii) vasodilation to increase blood flow

③ Similarly in hypoxic condition (i) hypothalamus activates first
(ii) Kidney produce erythropoietin → RBC ↑
(iii) lung - increase rate of respiration
(iv) cells increased level of mitochondria for more energy

Adaptation can be understood by various rules

① Allen's rule - As per this rule, people in warmer areas have longer appendages than those of colder areas.

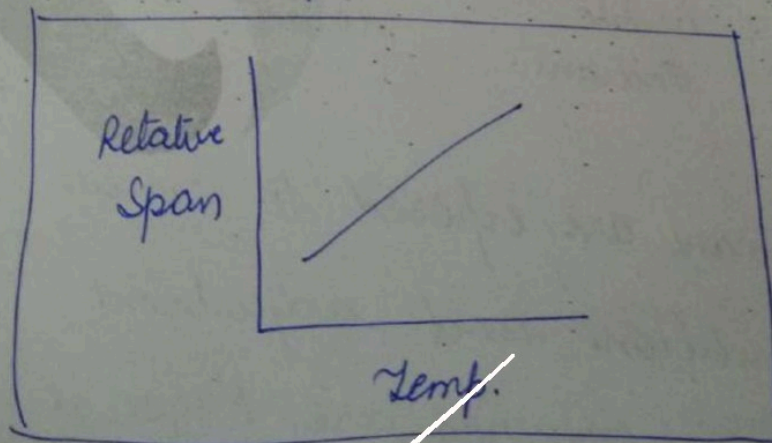

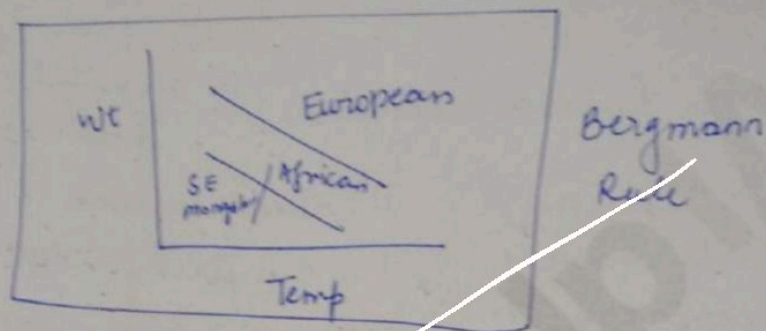

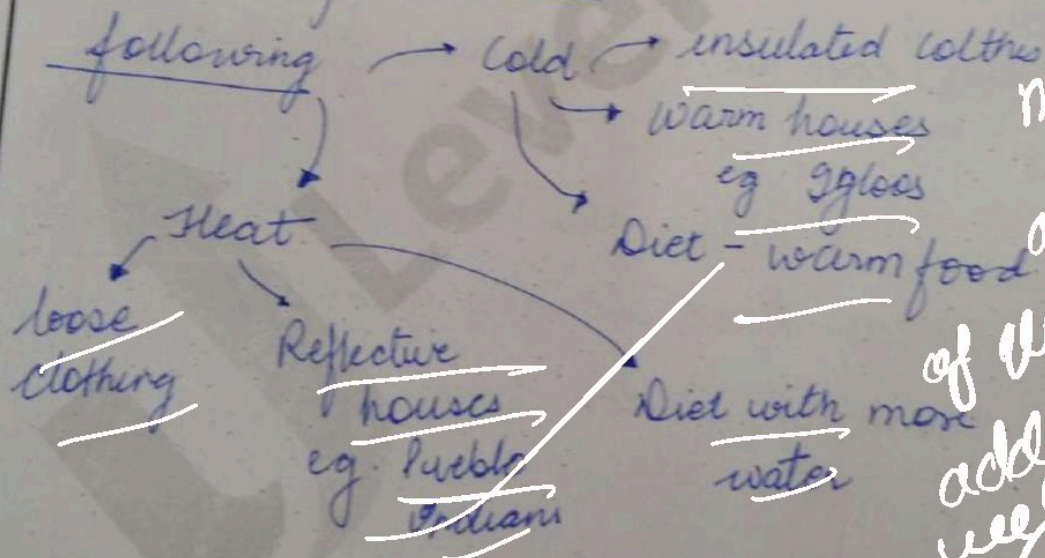

Fig- Allen's Rule

② Bergmann's Rule - People in colder areas have larger surface area than in hot areas

Cultural Adjustment are

All major aspects of question addressed well in answer 12

Humans are exposed to various climatic conditions and adjustment which help in surviving are Physical and cultural both.